

Penelope, Deborah, Greg

PENELOPE. Hi.

DEBORAH. Hey.

PENELOPE. You're here for the competition?

DEBORAH. No we're just wandering around for no reason.

GREGORY. We're a husband and wife writing team. I'm Greg, this is Deborah. Like a lot of married couples, we figured going into business together would really help smooth out the conflicts in our marriage.

DEBORAH. Why are you telling her that?

GREGORY. I thought we were telling people that.

DEBORAH. We're not telling people that.

GREGORY. Deborah is the writer, I'm just the idea person.

DEBORAH. When Greg talks I get ideas. For murder.

GREGORY. I'm the muse!

DEBORAH. Our first book was How to Kill Your Husband and Get Away With it.

GREGORY. Which was amazing and a little scary. For me personally. A lot scary actually.

PENELOPE. Oh wow did you actually get it published?

DEBORAH. No.

GREGORY. It was too good to be published.

DEBORAH. That's a stupid thing to say, Greg.

GREGORY. Whoops! There I go again.

PENELOPE. Well good luck tonight! I can't wait to see what everybody comes up with.

GREGORY. There can be only one!

They look at him.

From Highlander? Anyone see Highlander? It was awesome.

DEBORAH. Greg. Don't speak.

GREGORY. We're gonna kill it! It would be pretty great if we won, probably save our marriage, seeing as how Deborah's a little frustrated these days in so many areas.

DEBORAH. Does she need to know our entire backstory?

GREGORY. No she does not.